Subject: For tomorrow - Release of Joint Regional Recommendations

Hi everyone,

I just wanted to give you a heads up that we plan to release the 3rd draft Joint Regional Recommendations and Joint Statement of Support TOMORROW. We anticipate the EPA letter of support at that time, and after we receive it we'll 1) let you know; 2) post everything on our website and 3) blast the press release to our newsletter distribution list.

The final documents are attached, please feel free to prepare for a release tomorrow. I'll send around the EPA letter once we have it with the final final go ahead for all.

1. Joint Statement with signatures from the participating organizations and agencies
2. Joint Recommendations, in pdf form with the cover sheet attached
3. Executive Summary has been copied into its own document (it's also in the full doc) for those most interested in the highlights.
4. Press release/blog post

All docs have today's date to match the final execution, but none have changed since what we discussed last week. This is very exciting, thanks to all for the final push!

Best,
Carrie
